County Road 98 Bike and Safety Project

Who Gets Counted In The Census?

The Census counts every living person in the United States, including:

Children

Homeless

College students

People in care facilities

Seniors

Immigrants

Prisoners

And everyone else

Even if you are living here for a short time, you still get counted here when the Census survey comes. You will help track our growing population and be a placeholder for the next person that comes after you.

For example, if you are a student going to college, you are counted in the community where you currently live. When you leave, another student will take your place and the Census survey helps account for this cycle.
